Sauvignon Blanc 2013

93
POINTS

Duncan Savage has a very sure touch with Sauvignon Blanc, as demonstrated year after year in this wine. It comes from nine separate blocks, with a reduced percentage of Semillon (5%) adding an extra nuance. Mango and passion fruit flavours are supported by nettly acidity and a tangy, refreshing finish. Drink: 2014-16

The 2013 Sauvignon Blanc is blended with 5% Semillon cropped at six tons per hectare and sees nine months on the lees in tank and in barrel. It has a pretty bouquet leaning more toward the tropical rather than herbaceous spectrum. The palate is very well balanced with crisp acidity, impressive weight in the mouth with lovely greengage, nettle and gooseberry notes flourishing toward the finish. This is another excellent Sauvignon Blanc from winemaker Duncan Savage.

A brilliant pale gold in the glass, the nose is a heady mix of tropical and citrus fruits, with a hint of spice. There palate is clean, with good weight and texture. The citrus-driven flavors linger and linger, on the long and balanced finish.
