Lost Mountain Red 2010

POINTS

Subtle yet decadent aromas of wild berry cobbler, dried flower, chocolate and smoked meat comprise the nose of this Bordeaux-style red blend. —Andrew Hoover, Wine Enthusiast, December, 2013

(17.5/20 points) The renamed grand vin of this promising estate is still very young with well-worked tannins in evidence. Very dense and youthful but beautifully made. If you were served this blind in Bordeaux you would be tempted to guess it as a very smart classed growth. Bone-dry finish but the richness of the fruit promises a long and distinguished life.
